Hall Estill Launches Labor And Employment Blog

Hall Estill Attorneys at Law recently launched an informational blog on the firm's Web site devoted to current trends and changes in Labor & Employment law. Creation of the blog was in response to the needs of Oklahoma businesses to stay abreast of an ever-changing area of regulatory law.

According to Elaine Turner, attorney for Hall Estill, "Over the years, the number of laws and regulations relating to the workplace has grown exponentially. Adding to this the frequent changes and updates of existing laws, puts great demand on the business community to stay ahead and avoid costly litigation. We felt this was something Oklahoma businesses needed."

Anyone can access the blog at www.hallestill.com/site/hallestill/blog/5. Content postings to the blog are driven by the availability of viable information relating to changes in workplace laws and regulations and new information can appear as often as daily. Employers are free to access the blog at any time to get current information.

Hall Estill has been designated a 2010 Go-To Law Firm in Labor & Employment Law by ALM Media, a nationwide provider of specialized business news and information.
