AI Systems Versus Copyright Protection: Exactly Where Should We Draw the Lines?

Oklahoma Patent Attorney Randall K. McCarthy of Hall Estill is the author of our next piece, “AI Systems Versus Copyright Protection: Exactly Where Should We Draw the Lines?”

Here, Mr. McCarthy advocates changes to the U.S. copyright law to provide clear lines on what can constitute training data, how copyrighted works can be used by an internal AI system, and the extent to which AI-generated output content can be protected by copyright.
